

ABSTRACT

A data input device includes a finger touch sensing surface wherein the finger touch sensing surface is configured to produce a visual feedback in response to a touching of the touch inputs, the visual feedback indicating an absolute location that the finger touch sensing surface was touched by a finger.